ALAGAS

Terry Gives Ten Men Bases on Balls, Then--

With "Lefty" Terry, twirler for the Alagas, showing lack of control, the Thomasville Hornets topped yesterday's game, 5 to 3. Terry walked 10 men, while Pearson, who pitched for the Hornets, delivered the stuff it takes to win a ball game. Thomasville and Dothan are now even, each having won a game. The first game was a tie.

The teams lined up as follows:

DOTHAN--

Raidy, center field.
Heck, third base.
Spitznagle, second base.
Parks right field.
Chambers, first base.
Blackwell, left field.
Burruss, short stop.
Attridge, catcher.
Terry, pitcher.

THOMASVILLE--

Anderson, short stop.
Wicker, center field.
Utley, first base.
Parker, third base.
March, second base.
Connolly, right field.
Sheppard, catcher.
Pearson, pitcher.

First inning--Raidy fouled out to first. Heck walked. Spitznagle out to right field. Heck stole second. Parks flew out to center. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Anderson walked; Sikes runs for Anderson. Wicker bunts to Terry, forcing Anderson at second. Brazier fouled out to Chambers. Wicker out trying to steal second. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Second inning--Chambers struck out. Blackwell struck out. Burruss out second to first. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Utley walked. Parker out pitcher to first. Utley on second. March hit a long one but is out trying to go to second. Parker scoring. Connolly walked. Sheppard flew out to right. One hit, one run, no errors.

Third inning--Attridge struck out. Terry struck out. Sheppard dropped it, and Terry is thrown out at first. Raidy popped out to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pearson out second to first. Anderson walked. Sikes runs for Anderson again. Wicker walked. Brazier hit into double play. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Fourth inning--Heck walked and Spitznagle sacrificed him to second. Parks out second to first. Heck going to third. Chambers hit to short; ball hit him on shin. Heck scored and Chambers safe on first. Chambers out stealing second. One hit, one run, no errors.

Utley walked and Parker sacrificed him to second. March walked. Connolly hit to short, catching March out at second; Utley going to third.

Sheppard flew out to right. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Fifth inning--Blackwell doubled to right. Burruss sacrificed, third to first. Blackwell going to third. Attridge popped out to third. Terry hit to short and Blackwell scored. Raidy out short to first. Two hits, one run, no errors.

Pearson hit through short, safe at first. Anderson sacrificed pitcher to first. Wicker hit through short. Pearson scored and Wicker went to second on throw in. Brazier walked. Utley walked. Parker singled to center, scoring Wicker and Brazier. March flew out to left. Connolly struck out. Three runs, two hits, one error.

Sixth inning--Heck struck out. Spitznagle flew out to Wicker, and Parks went out second to first. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Sheppard out short to first. Pearson flew out to center. Anderson walked. Wicker struck out. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Seventh inning--Chambers walked. Blackwell hit to second, out at first. Chambers going to second. Burruss popped out to short. Attridge fouled out to Parker. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Brazier popped out to second. Utley walked. Utley stole second. Parker hit to right, scoring Utley. Parker taking second on the throw in. March out short to first. Parker going to third. Parker out trying to steal home. One hit, one run, no errors.

Eighth inning--Terry hit safe to second. Raidy hit safe to left. Terry out trying to go to third. Heck singled past second, Raidy going to third. On a double steal, Raidy scored and Heck went to second. Spitznagle flew out to right. Parks out second to first. Three hits, one run, no errors.

Connolly struck out. Sheppard hit one to first too hot to handle and was safe. Pearson hit to second and Sheppard was forced out at second. Anderson struck out. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Ninth inning--Chambers flew out to center. Blackwell flew out to center. Burruss walked. Attridge hit to third, who threw too low to first. Attridge being safe. Terry struck

Blaum Has Been In Dothan Just 20 Years

Dothan Jewelry Co. Has Remarkable Success.—Splendid Repairing Department is Feature of Large Store.

Twenty years ago J. N. Blaum came to Dothan and seeing an opportunity here for a jewelry store he established one, rather small

J. N. Blaum was confident in the year 1895 that Dothan would develop into a flourishing city, and he put his money in a little jewelry store. The stock was then small, but it was in keeping with the population of the town. Blaum had a long head on him, back in 1895, did this fellow then, but since that time the Dothan Jewelry Company has become one of the largest and most modern houses of its kind in the country. Year by year, even as Dothan grew, so did the Dothan Jewelry Company, the advancement being steady, sure conservative.

On East Main street, Dothan, in one of the best appointed stores in town, is displayed one of the most complete stocks of jewelry, cut glass, silver ware, diamonds, and watches, to be found anywhere. This is the home of the Dothan Jewelry Company now—the result of an experiment made 20 years ago. Great credit is due Mr. Blaum for the first-class establishment he has provided for the trade of this section; yes, for many, many communities stretching over a wide territory, whose citizens look to Dothan for the last word in jewelry.

Repairing Department.

There is one part of his business which Mr. Blaum is proud of, and that is the repair

PULL TOGETHER And BUY IN DOTHAN

Are we, as a community, pulling together? Or are we pulling in opposite directions? Organization is the great community need of the day. Without organization men and women are apt to sink below the level of mules. Even mules, in times of danger or panic, have been known to co-operate. They sometimes kick together. If it were given to mules to think, they would wonder at the ways of men. That men and women, living and working in the same community, should refuse to co-operate, is one of the riddles of civilization. The only benefits worth having are the benefits we can share with our neighbors. Individual benefits count for little.

It is the co-operative effort that brings everlasting good. Good roads, factories, better schools, good markets can only be secured when all pull together. Every man, woman and child in this community should give one hour each day to community work. But don't wait for someone else to start it. There is work for you to do. Begin with yourself.

STAR BAKERY AN UP TO DATE AND SANITARY PLANT

Has Capacity of 2,000 Loaves per Day, Everyone Wrapped in Sanitary Packages.

The Star Bakery, Dothan's leading bakery, is one of the best equipped shops in the entire State. Two ovens with all the latest improved baking devices turn out 1,000 loaves every day, and the quality is the best that good wheat flour, and sanitary, clean and expert baking can produce.

Mr. Mansill, the proprietor has been in the baking business for 20 years and knows the knack of making good bread and pastry from beginning to end. Every loaf of bread that goes out of this bakery is wrapped in a sanitary package, the driver's hands do not touch the bread, the man who waits upon you does not touch it; the only hands that come in contact with the bread pairing department. Here work is turned out, the like of which is done in but very few cities under 100,000 population. This department is in charge of Mr. H. A. Adkins, an expert, who has been with the Dothan Jewelry Company for 11 years. His work has given so much satisfaction that he has built up a valued reputation for his firm.

Although in business 20 years, the Dothan Jewelry Company has changed store houses only twice. The firm originally occupied the old Sam Lurie store, on East Main street, but the business outgrew this place, and new quarters were sought. Magnificent quarters too, this new home of the Dothan Jewelry Company, where diamonds, rings, watches, cut glass, silver ware, and other articles are sold.

from the time it leaves the bakery are your own; this insures positive cleanliness.

There is a quick delivery system in connection with the bakery and phone orders are always given the same care and attention as personal calls. In fact most of the orders are received over the phone. Mr. Mansill is a "Buy in Dothan" booster, and says, "There are so many crackers, cakes and confections made outside of Dothan that are sold in the stores here that if the people who buy these confections were to spend that money for home made products it would mean one of the largest home industries in the state with a payroll amounting to hundreds of dollars weekly, which would be spent by home bakers here in Dothan for the support of themselves and their families."

The Star Bakery is a thoroughly home industry, and it is hoped that it will receive the support of every citizen of this community who believes in the slogan that makes prosperity for all "Buy in Dothan."

MADE IN DOTHAN MEDICINE IS THE PUREST AND BEST

Mr. Mark Ellison of the Ellison Drug Co., says, "Medicine made in Dothan is the best and purest," and tells why. "I am advertising my medicines in the 'Buy in Dothan' campaign of The Eagle because I not only endorse the movement but I wish to call attention of the public to the difference between medicines made in our laboratory, those made by outside concerns." In the first place our formula is always open to any family physician, so that if one wishes to be absolutely sure that what they are getting is pure they have only to verify the fact in this manner. Every bottle that is made is under the personal supervision myself and the registered pharmacists in my employ.

Once upon a time the linotype machine made the society editor say that Mr. and Mrs. Blank were the proud parents of a little daughter. What they really were the proud parents of was a little daughter. An "E" had crept in there where there should have been a "D". If the society editor had been a little more careful he would have said "E" instead of "D".

Sunday Closing Law.

The Houston county grand jury has given Sheriff May instructions to keep all business houses closed on Sunday, including fruit stands, drug stores, and ice cream factories. No ice cream can be made and delivered on Sundays, and drug stores will be opened only to fill prescriptions.

The work cut out by the grand jury is a big one. The body is to be commended for doing what it thought to be the right thing for the community. We offer no criticism on this particular action but their actions raise a big question.

Who shall say what can be done on Sunday and what shall not be done?

Christ himself didn't settle this question fully.

The "blue law," if there is one, is a term usually applied to a law that is dead from non-enforcement. In another place, is a copy of Sunday law.

If the man who makes ice cream and delivers it on Sunday is indicted and hauled into court, what would keep the same court from calling the man who makes and delivers ice on Sundays a criminal, the dairy man who set a bottle of fresh milk on your steps every Sunday morning, to be kept cool during the day by the ice Old John and Rambo are sure to deliver at almost every home in Dothan?

Should the dry goods merchant open his doors on Sunday and disregard the Sunday laws? Certainly not; we all admit that. But if he must close, why shouldn't the drug store, the fruit store, the ice cream and soda water parlor also close? Then if they close, why not close the restaurants? And if the restaurants, why not the hotels, and if the hotels, why should a family eat a Sunday dinner, that takes a couple two or three hours hard work to prepare, including the making of some ice cream, or the milk-fag and churning for the day?

The further one goes with it, the more ridiculous it looks to try to say what to allow and what not to allow.

We can print a Sunday paper, and nothing is said, for we all want a Sunday paper, but there would be some objections if the job office ran all day.

At a slight strain of the imagination, the answer comes back, that only the necessities should be performed on Sundays. That brings up still another question. What as a necessity to one, is not to another. We may not care for the Sunday soda water or cigar, but we may be foolish about ice cream or fresh milk. Those things are not all public necessities, but they are public conveniences, just like the water and lights that are provided on Sundays.

We file no protest at the actions of the grand jury. In fact, if the same question were referred to us, we confess, we would make a mess of it. We wouldn't know just where to stop, and where to start. It's too big a job for us. But we know one thing. If two men were brought into court under charges of violating the Sunday law, one charged with selling ice cream and one with selling ice, or milk and butter, we would put the cases under one charge if we were a juror trying the case, for they are neither absolute necessities, although they go toward contributing to personal comfort. Neither is eating on Sunday a necessity, but we all enjoy overeating on that day and spend Monday taking tablets for the headache.

There is not the necessity of running trains on Sunday that there is in keeping a blast furnace fired.

What makes laws effective? The people whom they are supposed to govern. The laws of the city of Dothan only affect the citizens of Dothan. Any community must have a rule or a law for its people. There must be certain restraint to keep the strong from imposing upon the weak; to keep the lawlessly inclined from imposing upon those who want to obey the laws, else what one citizen might term his rights—his personal liberty—might be an imposition on his neighbor.

But saying just where one should stop, and how far one should go, with reference to Sunday law, is a bigger question than framing an effective prohibition law.

We older citizens of Dothan can remember when Ghent used to close his telephone exchange Sunday afternoons, and it was a great inconvenience, even then, but what would we say now if no "number number" came when we raised the receiver on Sunday?

The Knowing Portion.

Dr. Frank Crane.

I would fain pour out a libation, a few drippings of ink solemnly imposed upon paper, to the Knowing Ones.

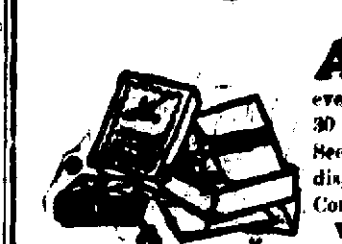

I love to enter a shoe store and meet the urbane salesman who knows what I want better than I do. He smiles in a pained way at my suggestions. He tries, oh so hard, to restrain his contempt when I indicate my departed tastes. He remarks, in hopes it will induce me to a proper silence, that he's been in the shoe business for twenty years. Finally he gets me so cowed that I walk away in footgear that is killing me, and that I have to give to the janitor eventually, even because Mr. Knowitall insisted that the shoes couldn't possibly hurt.

Then there is the lady who sits next you at dinner. Her weapon is her smile. I wish I could make you feel the deadening weight of that superior smirk. For she knows it all, and when she dies wisdom shall die with her. She listens to your old views with a half amused, half bored air. This type grows in New England thick as hazel bushes.

I must not omit the carpenter who knows precisely how you want your shelf put up. You have almost to stand over him with a cocked revolver to get him to do what you want. And when he goes away he leaves you crushed under the consciousness of your utter ignorance of what's what.

Let me speak of the waiter in the restaurant who is pained beyond words at the absurdity of your order, the head waiter who waits where you don't want to sit, the clothier who will force a suit of clothes on you that you don't like, the physician who refuses to listen to your symptoms, who puts your arm as if you were a two-year-old, and who impresses you with the fact that you have nothing to do with this case—it is his business, you are only the man who is to take the medicine; and the boy who mixes with ill-assorted ingredients to your fool advice, you being nobody but a father; and the girl who of course respects you as a mother, only you don't understand.

I confess I hate all parade of familiarity with public personages. It goes against my grain to hear the knowing one refer to the Mayor as John, to the President as Woodrow, to actors and actresses as though they enjoyed the greatest intimacy with them—old pals, you know, and all that.

Why in the world is it assumed to be something to make one cheery because he knows the sleeping car conductor, or the theatre ticket agent, or the orchestra leader in a restaurant, or an aviator, a senator, a criminal, a policeman, or any other of the spotlight?

And yet I do confess a certain awe in me when a friend with me speaks familiarly to one of these herdsmen of the human crowd. For I know none of them. I am one of the cattle. I step lively when the guard on the subway yells at me. When the head waiter holds up his finger, I follow it hypnotized, to the darkest corner of the dining room.

What Time Talk.

Atlanta Constitution.
The more they dig in the mire of Time the more the new world learns of the extent to which the ancients of the earth anticipated us in many inventions now called "new."

The archeologists have recently discovered ancient places that were equipped with several elevators; that the ancient Jews were pioneers in shorthand reporting, and that stenographers were advertised for them, while labor unions flourished soon after man began to earn his bread "in the sweat of his brow," and more remarkable of all, there was an oil monopoly that antedated the Rockefeller trust by hundreds of years.

Old tablets show that a farmer of Babylon "advertised" for a remedy to rid his fields of caterpillars, and successfully applied it, giving grateful testimonial therefor, and in every case the records of the people's daily life show the same hopes and aspirations that move the world today. Even fashion hasn't changed much!

There was a "conscience fund" in that far time, and candidates for office, though not as numerous then as now, doubtless ran for exercise and glory, and because they needed the office in their business. There were "rain-hew-chasers," who saw the gold at the rainbow's end and ran a life race for it. And perhaps the candidate who promised to save the state and country had to do as much "explaining" afterwards as some of the office-seekers of today.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Despairing Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Casper, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side. The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good."

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work. If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in 40 years of continuous success, and surely help you, too. Your daughter-in-law sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. Now! The Maximo to Restore Good Times

For more than a year the habit of self-denial has been praised by the American people. Whatever may have been wanted, either in the home, the farm or the shop, it must have been bought with a hard-earned dollar. To save, not to spend, has been the rule.

The moment has come to reverse the process. The maximo which will lead to new prosperity is BUY IT NOW!

Never was it truer than at this moment that the prosperity of this people is in their own hands. Pay their own debts—finish the end of the existing depression and speed the arrival of an exemplified prosperity. That end and that arrival are certain to come in any event, but a well-spread determination to cast off the fetters which doubt and apprehension have put upon us in the past will hasten the day.

The war, coming last on the heels of badly timed legislation, spread far and wide the seeds of business distrust and individual apprehension of hard times. Thrift, a virtue in its place, was carried to the point at which it became a vice. Prudence developed into niggardliness, men commonly hoarded, became miserly, the innocent maxim was amended to read "Take care of the pennies and lock up the dollars out of use."

The result has been a financial stranglehold, a supply shortage, and business depression for which no reason longer exists.

It is time for people to resume again the habits of life and of business which characterized Americans before this depression set in. We do not counsel extravagance, but we insist that niggardliness is no longer either necessary or helpful, not even to the person practicing it. If the 100,000 or more people, for example, who each will buy the Sunday edition of the American would each loose into the channels of trade $10 in the next two weeks for things they really need, they have reduced demand still further through fear for the future, been brave to do without, lessened employment and spread they would be better off, business destitution and distress far and would be appreciably stimulated with and its revival would be felt by those who thus contributed to it. If the millions of readers of the newspapers throughout the nation would follow a like course, adopting for their own the rule "BUY IT NOW," they would make a positive contribution to the trade and prosperity of the nation.

At a host of points millions of men and women have been saving each a little beyond the normal amount of saving. By so doing they have reduced demand still further, shut down factories, lessened employment and spread they would be better off, business destitution and distress far and would be appreciably stimulated with
